NATURE of ATRS CONFERENCES:

The ATRS annual conference includes participation from all facets of the aviation industry: airlines, airports, ATC, aerospace, government officials, consultants and academics. In addition to paper presentations, the conference will also offer invited keynote speakers from industry and a panel session on current and critical issues facing the industry.

The program for the 2011 conference will follow the format of previous events. A detailed program will be made available in late May 2011.

Special Issues of Journals: Each year, selected papers from the ATRS conference are published in special journal issues. In the past, ATRS special issues have appeared in the Journal of Air Transport Management, Transportation Research E, Journal of Air Transportation, Transportation Journal and Transport Policy: The Official Journal of WCTR Society. We expect to publish a number of special issues again with papers from the 2011 conference.

Conference Registration: Registration forms are available from www.atrsworld.org and www.atrs2011.org
